

Two-dimensional meshes on a  $x$ - $z$  plane. An idealised wave-shaped mountain with the standard cut cell method and the new slanted cell method. The cut cell mesh has extremely small cells that can severely constrain the time-step for explicit methods, but the slanted cell mesh has cells that are long in the direction parallel to the lower boundary.